- ❖ 2 – 3.5" x 2.5" rectangles, tan fabric
- ❖ 2 – 7" x 3.5" rectangle, tan fabric
- ❖ Make 8 tan/red blocks and 7 tan/blue blocks (unfinished size 7" x 9.5")

100" of 2.5" strips for binding
48" x 54" backing
48" x 54" batting

Piecing the Quilt

You can find piecing tips on my website at <https://skyquilter.com/tips/>.

Use a ¼" seam throughout.

Sew middle 3 rectangles of each block as shown in above pictures. Add side rectangles. Note in the above pictures, the blue, red, tan blocks have a "vertical" orientation; the tan with red/blue blocks have a "horizontal" orientation. There are no seams to match.

Arrange blocks as desired, with 6 blocks in each of 5 rows. There will be no seams to match.

Sew the 6 rows, pressing the seams in alternating directions. This will allow you to more easily join the rows.

Quilting the Quilt

You can find quilting and binding tips on my website at <https://skyquilter.com/tips/>.

Layer the quilt top with batting of your choice and a quilt back. For this quilt, I used a lightweight poly low-loft batting, and a scrappy pieced back. It was quilted on my domestic machine using free motion meandering. I also pieced together a scrappy binding.
